

28th European Conference on General Thoracic Surgery
The Hague, The Netherlands
31 May – 3 June 2020

The Board of Directors and Program Committee have carefully monitored the global spread Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19). The health and safety of our participants at the ESTS meetings are the utmost priority.

Considering the recent rapid and on going developments regarding the spread of COVID-19, the travel bans being imposed, the health and safety of all delegates and attendees, it has been decided to postpone the 28th European Conference on General Thoracic Surgery being held in the Hague, The Netherlands

We are exploring the different options available and will communicate these as soon as further information is available.

We hope you understand the extraordinary situation and the decision which has been taken.

If you are an existing registered delegate, have booked a hotel room from the official Congress accommodation service, are a faculty member, are a successful abstract submitter, or are an exhibitor/sponsor, we will be communicating with you directly in due course. There is no need to contact us; we will contact you.

As information becomes available we will announce on www.ests.org
